Congratulations, Class of 2018!

St. Mary's honored the Class of 2018 at the school's 114th Commencement Exercises on May 24, 2018.

Dean of Academics & Curriculum, Mr. Junik led the ceremony, introducing Mr. Fay to give the Invocation.

Class President, Shae Antonicelli gave an inspiring address, relating students' time at St. Mary's to the process of putting together a puzzle. Each year, the end picture starts to get clearer thanks to the help of the St. Mary's faculty and the friends met along the way.

Valedictorian, Chelsea Okon also addressed the nearly 900-person crowd with a speech that focused on how the millennial generation, while considered underdogs, has the power to change the world.

At graduation, St. Mary's also presents the Marian Award, which is the highest honor bestowed upon a Lancer. The award goes to the graduating senior who displays qualities unmatched by their peers in kindness, service, and what it means to be a Lancer. This year's Marian Award winner was Andrew Wargo.

Andrew can always be found on-campus, even after graduation, as the "go-to" guy for just about everything. He DJs dances, runs clubs (like Lancer First Responders), emcees sporting events, leads Campus Ministry, and makes the day brighter for everyone he interacts with. St. Mary's will undoubtedly miss his presence next year.

The names of the graduates were read, and students walked across the stage, accepting their diplomas from Mr. Junik, Board Chair, Mr. Fiume, and Head of School, Mr. Kelleher.

The Class of 2018 moved their tassels, tossed their caps in the air, and entered the world as St. Mary's alumni.

The graduates and their families were then able to take part in an after-party on the front lawn to chat, take some photos, and eat at one of the four food trucks present.

The Class of 2018 is comprised of 88 graduates—88 students who left their mark on St. Mary's, making our school a better place because they were here. Congratulations, Class of 2018! Here's to the exciting future ahead for you all!

Letter from the Editor

Dear Readers,

It's truly been an incredible year for the Marian Gazette's revival, which wouldn't have come about had it not been for our avid readers, supporters, and writers. Once again, I'd like to thank and acknowledge those who contributed their time and effort into some, most, or all of the editions. The amount of hard work and dedication that I witnessed being poured into each one is certainly something I would never take for granted.

For starters, thank you to the St. Mary's faculty and staff for their willingness to partake in "Guess the Teacher," as well as simply taking the time out to read the Gazette. Receiving positive feedback from them has meant the world to me, and I can't wait to further shine light on their wonderful legacies and wisdom in future editions.

I'd also like to thank our incredible writers and photographers for their willingness to share their voice and contribute a unique sentiment to many of the editions. To have a platform that allows one to freely be heard and express themselves is so important, so I'm beyond blessed that St. Mary's has allowed the Gazette to become the pivotal platform in which the Lancer community can do so.

Next, thank you to Mrs. Roberson for helping to get the Marian Gazette back on its feet in the first place, and for encouraging her students to create their own articles for it. Writing is undoubtedly a powerful tool and gift, so watching others utilize it to the best of their abilities and take the opportunity to share their voice is not something to be taken lightly.

From the bottom of my heart, I'd like to thank the true backbone of both the Gazette and many of the Lancer behind-the-scenes functions: Miss Kawa. The Marian Gazette would not be at all what it's become today without her. From laying out the entire newsletter to writing a copious amount of articles (as well as contributing her photography skills), Miss Kawa is truly the heart and soul of the Marian Gazette, and I'm beyond privileged to be able to work alongside her in creating each edition.

Lastly (but certainly not least), thank you to YOU—our readers! We hope you've enjoyed the newsletters, and we can't wait to further bring you entertainment, information, and inside scoops in the upcoming school year.

I'm truly beyond blessed to have been given this opportunity, and I greatly look forward to serving as the editor for the 2018-2019 school year. I hope you all have a delightful and relaxing summer, and I can't wait to see what the Lancer Community brings to the table next!

"You can design and create and build the most wonderful place in the world. But it takes people to make the dream a reality." (Walt Disney)

Sincerely yours,
Brianna Propis

Faculty and Staff Participate in Day of Caring

Each spring brings forth a renewed spirit and sense of excitement for the season that lies ahead. In keeping with this zest for the season, the faculty and staff of St. Mary's High School recently participated in the school's annual Day of Caring. Guided by the Franciscan tradition's call to service, half of the school's faculty and staff spent a day at St. Luke's Mission of Mercy, while the Buffalo City Mission hosted the other half of the staff.

Head of School, Mr. Kelleher, wants to ensure St. Mary's students develop a well-rounded sense of self throughout their time at the school: "One of the main virtues we want our kids to value at St. Mary's is that sense value at St. Mary's is that sense of service," Kelleher said. "We want our students to experience the amazing feeling you get when you give to others, and it is important for us, as teachers and administrators, to give of our time and talents as well."

While at St. Luke's, the St. Mary's contingency unboxed and organized hundreds of gloves to be donated to those in need. Then, over at the Buffalo City Mission, staff members did various tasks throughout the day.

St. Mary's plans to make these days of service a staple on their school calendar, for both faculty and students alike: "There are so many great organizations in Buffalo that serve some type of population in need or serve a deserving cause," Kelleher continued. "We have a platform to work with these organizations that are so vital to our community and show our kids they can make a difference. That's the power of learning through experiences in and out of the classroom." St. Mary's plans to start a Lancer Volunteer Corps.

next year, where interested students will go to various places each month, volunteering their time to help those in need under the guidance of the school's Campus Minister, Deacon Robb Ciezki.

Beloved Faculty Bid Farewell

Two favorites in the St. Mary's faculty world are retiring at the end of this school year.

Mr. Gary Schulerberg will leave St. Mary's after 33 years of teaching Social Studies before transitioning to become the school librarian in recent years.

Mrs. Linda Aures has taught freshmen Earth Science and Physics at St. Mary's for the past 41 years.

To say Mr. Schu and Mrs. Aures will be missed is a gross understatement. Both Mr. Schu and Mrs. Aures have built legacies at St. Mary's that will live on even after their last classes are dismissed.

There are no words to describe the gratitude the entire St. Mary's community has for their years of service and the profound influence these two remarkable educators have had at St. Mary's for nearly four decades.

Faculty Q & A with Mr. Mauro

Last month's "Guess the Teacher" featured a few facts about Mr. Mauro, so here's a more in-depth interview with one of SMH's favorite teachers:

Q: When did you start teaching at St. Mary's and what has been your fondest memory?

A: "I started teaching at St. Mary's in 2014 in what is now the Hockey Lounge. My fondest memory so far was having the opportunity to teach my niece, Gabrielle, during her senior year."

Q: Where did you attend high school?

A: "St. Francis High School"

Q: Who is your personal hero and why?

A: "I would have to say my heroes are my two older brothers who are both successful in their careers, families, and communities of Western New York and Kansas City."

Q: What/who inspired you to become a teacher?

A: "My father inspired me to become a teacher."

Q: Knowing all that you do now, if you could give your high school students any words of wisdom, what would you say?

A: "Stop texting and Snapchatting, and instead read a book!"

Q: Any piece of advice for students struggling to decide on a college university or major?

A: "Go to a college you can afford and see yourself attending. Find a major, make friends, and get a degree. Life changes constantly after college, and a degree is the consistency employers are looking for."

Q: Anything else you'd like to share with The Marian Gazette readers?

A: "Thanks for bringing back the Gazette!"

Mr. Fay's Corner

What about June raises your enthusiasm? Is it the start of summer, the end of school, the celebration of Father's Day or Flag Day? Or perhaps for the liturgically-minded, it's the beginning of O.T. (Ordinary Time)?

On the liturgical calendar this year, June begins with the feast of Corpus Christi, the Body and Blood of Jesus. For Catholics, this gift sacramentalizes the "Real Presence" of Christ with us. This gift is not a reward for being good or something we have earned; rather, it is unconditionally bestowed to help us be aware of the presence of Jesus in our life and to strengthen us to be faithful disciples. Eucharist comes from the Greek, meaning thanksgiving. In English, Eucharist is both a noun and a verb. As a noun, it is the sacrament of Jesus we receive at liturgy. As a verb, it is the action that follows our reception. Eucharist is the love of God, our neighbor, and ourselves, and how that translates into what we say and what we do.

On June 17 (and everyday), let us be thankful to "Our Father" for His presence in our lives; to Jesus for His gift of eternal life, and to the Holy Spirit for His presents of wisdom, understanding, counsel, fortitude, knowledge, piety, and fear of the Lord.

A Blessed and Happy Father's Day. Benedicat vos omnipotens Deus. twf+

Guess the Teacher

Each month, The Marian Gazette will feature a different person in our "Guess the Teacher" section. If you think you know who this month's teacher is, submit your guess to Student Editor Brianna Propis at 19bpropis@student.smhlancers.org.

- I enjoy the art of good handwriting/penmanship.
- My favorite outdoor activity is creek walking.
- I love to clean.
- I was a professional photographer for many years.
- I am not interested in ever bungee jumping - ever!
- I have a dog named Caroline after the Neil Diamond song, "Sweet Caroline."
- I will not turn around in an elevator, after entering to face the door. Try it! It's fun and makes people crazy, and they don't know what to do about it!

Men's Lacrosse Brings Home Title

A couple of weeks ago, the Men's Varsity Club Lacrosse Team beat Newfane to win the league championship! Way to go, boys!

Crew Competes at Saratoga States

Olivia Nasternak, Kerry Sullivan, Destiny Severn, Gia Sacco, Grace Haxton and Jen-nae Lipiarz represented St. Mary's rowing, under the banner of the Buffalo Scholastic Rowing Association. Olivia won gold in the Junior 4, earning the NY State Championship and also went on to win silver in the Lightweight Double. Kerry and Destiny won gold in the Novice 4, beating the closest competition by six boat lengths, also earning them the NY State Championship title. All the Lady Lancers placed in the top winning positions to qualify the finals.

Baseball Falls to St. Joe's in Marathon Game

In a game that lasted over two days—yes, that's right, two days—St. Mary's fell to St. Joe's in the deciding game three of the semifinal series for the Georgetown Cup.

The Lancers were up 2-1 with one out in the bottom of the fifth, when lightning struck—literally—and play was suspended until the following day.

Picking up right where they left off, the Lancers couldn't hold the momentum, losing 3-2 in the 14th inning. Despite the heartbreaking loss, it was another great season for Lancers baseball!

Softball Falls Just Short in Championship

After an undefeated season in the Monsignor Martin, the Lancers came up just short in the league championship game, falling 1-0 to the Nardin Gators in 10 innings. The game was a pitchers' duel, without either team able to get runners into scoring until the game was forced into an International Tiebreaker in the 10th inning, where a runner starts the inning on second base.

St. Mary's also wants to congratulate Caitlin Bish and Maggie Kellner on First Team All-Catholic selections and Mackenzie Suto and Ava Miller on earning spots on the Second Team.

To begin the season, the Lancers took a trip to Mudville (in Herkimer, NY) and took home the tournament championship!

Marian Gazette Contributor Receives Honor for Photography

Junior Alyssa LaMartina has graciously contributed her photography and storytelling skills to The Marian Gazette over the past year. A favorite section among Gazette readers, Alyssa has recently been honored for her work. Let's hear from the award-winner herself:

On Thursday, May 10th, Villa Maria College held its 24th annual High School Photography Exhibition. Students from grades nine to twelve were allowed to submit their photography for judgement and presentation in the gallery. This year featured 275 submissions, 150 of which were accepted. Out of the 150 accepted, there were ten honorable mentions given out. This was my first year participating, and I had a great time being able to show my work.

I selected a picture I had taken in the Buffalo Central Terminal of the Main Concourse Window. I submitted this picture, and was excited to receive an honorable mention award. As I continue to develop my photography, I will also participate in the Glens Falls Art festival during the last weekend of July and the Leviston Art festival on August 11th and 12th. Since this is my last "Marian Gazette" for the year, I wanted to thank everybody for their support of my work! There will be more to come next year!

Poetry Corner: Peace in the World

"Untitled Poem"

By Derek Johnson

Today The world is evolving, changing and is tragic in many ways. We talk about gang violence in the streets daily, crips and bloods. Well how about the gangs of reality, the USA, Afghanistan, Iran etc. They throw shots and terrorist attacks to our country, and we try and fight back to our best abilities. We're not known to set bombs in public nor are we known to hurt another country by surprise. It's "beef" and corruption in the "streets." Well I know a lot of people haven't thought the process out of the real gangs nowadays ... It's "beef" between countries around the world. In the United States we are known as "the land of the free," and other countries can't stand the freedom we have. They think that if they attack us, we'll give up and that'll put the smile on their faces they they've been waiting for. Now don't get me wrong, in my opinion we don't have a perfect country at all. Slavery is still in order and even if African Americans aren't still picking, raking and being tortured, they're still treated differently. Diversity and segregation is still amongst us. People of different color are still not getting along in many areas. We need to put an end to the difficulties and make peace in the world we all live in.

Shea's: A Culture "Hot Spot" in the Heart of Buffalo

By: Alyssa La Martina

Perhaps one of the most well-known landmarks that Buffalo calls its own is Shea's Performing Arts Center, located on Main Street in Downtown Buffalo. The theatre was originally named and known as Shea's Buffalo. The project began in 1925. The design plan was formulated and precisely executed by the talented Rapp brother architects, George and Cornelius. The Rapp brothers were famous for collaborating on elaborate theatre construction projects throughout the country.

The theater's design was based on the Spanish and French Baroque styles of design and architecture. Other inspirations included 16th and 17th century opera houses in Europe. The interior was designed by renowned designer and artist, Louis Tiffany. Several unique features were constructed and utilized, including the enormous Czechoslovakian crystal chandeliers that amplified light throughout the massive atrium. Shea's Buffalo was finally completed on January 16, 1926 for a cost of nearly $2 million - the equivalent of about $28 million today.

7 Reasons to Watch: Supernatural

This month, Nicole Gorny tells us why Supernatural is one of the best shows on TV.

1. Brotherly Love

Supernatural first aired on television in 2005, and is currently filming its 14th season. The show revolves around the Winchester brothers, Sam and Dean. One of the underlying themes of the hit series is the bond between these two siblings—their relationship and differing personalities make for a great dynamic. Dean is the cocky, immature, older brother who's always looked out for his little brother, Sam. Sam is intelligent and cautious. He also wants to pursue a life outside of "hunting."

Throughout the show, it's fascinating to watch the two brothers interact with each other. Their relationship on-camera is aided by the fact that the actors, Jared Padalecki (as Sam) and Jensen Ackles (as Dean) are best friends in real life. They're both incredibly dedicated and make such a great duo.

2. Classic Rock

A tradition that has "carried on" since the first season is the playing of "Carry On My Wayward Son" by Kansas during the show's season finale episode. Numerous other Classic Rock songs have been played as well, including "Highway to Hell" by ACDC, "Eye of the Tiger" by Survivor, "Renegade" by Styx, and many more. Occasionally, a character will even reference a song in regards to a current situation that correlates well with the song's lyrics.

3. Lore

Supernatural's plotlines tend to draw inspiration from classic folklore, legends, and Biblical stories. Though the show's writers usually take creative liberties and create their own plotlines as well, the balance between incorporating both well-known stories and original themes makes for a unique and intriguing viewing experience.

A twist taken from the Bible, can be found in Genesis 1:2-4 which says, "And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep... And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness." In Supernatural, "the Darkness" is more than just a thing, it's a being—God's sister, Amara.

4. Characters

It's easy to love a bad boy. Dean Winchester is a charming brute, to say the least. The older Winchester is courageous, determined, and a warrior. He takes orders and follows them like a "good soldier," a practice Sam himself questions. Dean never questions the idea of following blind orders and always doing what their father says. After the boys' father leaves, Dean struggles with following orders from an absent father, and simultaneously feels the need to be a leader for his little brother, Sam. Growing up, Dean had to play mom, dad, and older brother, forcing him to grow up too soon. However, he still has a fun-loving and somewhat childish personality, which makes him such a likeable character.

Sam is the character who struggles the most on the show. In the show's pilot, he made the big decision to leave the "family business" to pursue a normal life. When Sam was a baby, a yellow-eyed demon snuck into his nursery and killed his mother. After she died, John the Winchester boys' father, went on a quest for revenge to hunt down the thing that killed her. While doing so, he became a "hunter," and began hunting the supernatural, while also raising Sam and Dean to do the same. Although Dean adjusted to that life, Sam always resisted—breaking from his family's expectations and making him entirely relatable.

Castiel (played by Misha Collins) is an angel who rebelled against Heaven for the Winchester boys. One of Castiel's quality traits is his loyalty to the Winchesters. He's curious and asks odd questions simply because he's an inexperienced angel who hasn't had much contact with humans. For example, one time he was on the phone with Dean and he said, "This isn't funny Dean. The voice says I'm almost out of minutes." Other characters to look out for are: Charlie Bradbury, Bobby Singer, Jack, Kevin Tran, Crowley, Gabriel, Lucifer, Rowena MacLeod, and many more.

5. The Angels

My personal favorite part of the show is the way they present angels. They're warriors of Heaven who don't wear tunics or play harps in the clouds—they fight. My favorite effect done on the show is their wings. Typically, a light flashes in the background as the shadow of an angel's wings can be seen in the background. It's a unique and fascinating take on these divine beings. While the angels are certainly very intimidating, the real threats are the Archangels.

In the show, there are four Archangels: Michael, Lucifer, Gabriel, and Raphael. "They are fierce. They're absolute. They're Heaven's most terrifying weapon" (Supernatural).

Q & A with an SMH Certified First Responder

The Marian Gazette contributor Nicole Gorny sat down with fellow junior Athena Mohamed to see what life is like on the job for Certified First Responders and how other interested students can get involved in the field of emergency response.

Q: What made you want to go into this line of work? Was it always a lifelong ambition or did you discover your passion along the way with a specific experience?

A: I always knew I wanted to help others and make a difference in the world. When Lancer First Responders came to St. Mary's, I thought it was a great opportunity to help others, be involved in the community, and make a difference.

Q: What are some of the most unique tasks you've had to learn?

A: Taking CFR (Certified First Responder) courses really brought my training to a whole other level because I had to learn a lot about bandaging, helping others, communication skills, and leadership skills that I can also use throughout my everyday life.

Q: Despite being so young, you've had a lot of calls. Once in action, has there ever been an outcome that didn't go the way you expected? Would you change anything?

A: When going on a lot of calls, you always reflect and think about what you did and how you can improve. Everyone can always improve in everything they do, so nothing will ever be perfect. You could have always communicated more or solved a problem better.

Q: How's the relationship between everyone at the station? Would you say that you're all like a family?

A: We're all definitely like a huge family—we help each other out and can always rely on one another. We're all really like brothers and sisters. We may fight or have a disagreement, but we know that at the end of the day, we have each other's backs.

Q: What's your favorite part about what you're doing?

A: When you go on a call or help someone in the community, you definitely see that you're making a difference and having an impact. It's an honorable and awesome feeling.

Q: What are your plans for your future?

A: I plan to take Firefighter One classes when I'm 18 so that I can become an interior firefighter. Then, my plans are to go to ECC to further my medical career as a paramedic.

Q: What would you say to anyone interested in pursuing what you do?

A: The sky isn't the limit. You shouldn't be defined by your ethnicity or gender. Even though the fire hall may be male-dominated, that shouldn't define who you are. You should always work hard for everything.

Q: Anything you might want to add that maybe I didn't ask about?

A: Help others and always save lives!

Shea's Theatre Gets a Facelift

For nearly 40 years, Shea's was a popular venue for movies as well as for Vaudeville shows. However, as the passage of time marched on, Shea's interior and exterior began to take a beating. The late '60s and early '70s were a low point in Shea's architectural history, as the theatre was in such decline that a temporary closing and renovation were required.

After a period of many years of restoration, Shea's was reopened in its original glory.

The new name for the theatre was Shea's Performing Arts Center. It has become a popular destination for traveling Broadway productions.

Thank you for all of the support this year! I will be showing my art at the Glens Falls and Lewiston Art Festivals this summer and would love for all our readers to come to see these wonderful events!

Vampires, Ghosts, and Werewolves... Oh My!

6. Exploring Faith

Supernatural doesn't shy away from faith and explores the idea of doubting one's faith as well. At first, Dean doesn't believe in the supernatural. He says there's no such thing as Heaven or angels because he has never seen these things. Sam, on the other hand, says that because of all the things he and Dean have experienced, there must be greater powers in the world. While the show goes on to prove that there are supernatural forces, there is still doubt. Nothing is resolved when Sam and Dean see angels, or even God. They believe they're real, but they are still unsure how to feel about it. That alone is powerful and speaks to the audience.

7. Nothing Left Unexplored

Throughout the show, all sorts of paranormal and supernatural ideas have been explored, which assists with both character development and developing interesting new plot points. As the show progresses, more creatures are brought into the story, such as vampires, ghosts, werewolves, witches, demons, and angels. While there are certainly many television shows airing that involve these beings, none of them have managed to last as long as the smash-hit CW series, Supernatural.
